DISCIPLINE FOR MISSISSIPPI IS MEETING THEME

Hundreds of Notables in Chicago Today at Flood Parley

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)—A great committee on ways and means, sat here today to work out disciplinary measures for "old Mississippi," the nation's geographical incorrigible.

From the head waters of the stream they came, from the mouth and from the tributaries. The government itself and the 27 Mississippi valley states were represented. Cabinet officers, senators, congressmen and governors uniting with engineers, bankers, manufacturers and farmers in the common purpose of flood control.

Mayor William H. Thompson of Chicago, who sponsored the flood control conference in cooperation with Mayors O'Keefe of New Orleans and Miller of St. Louis, said last night in an address broadcast by 35 stations in chain that original plans to entertain 2500 delegates had to be changed to accommodate 25,000.

Purpose of Meeting
The purpose of the conference is "to lay out some sort of plan to cure the situation which is a continuing menace to the Mississippi Valley and a reproach to the nation."

Louisiana, Missouri and Minnesota delegations arrived during the morning.

Bankers from the valley state interested themselves in the question of financial credits in the face of the estimated billion dollar flood loss.

"I have come at the request of the President to show the interest of the administration is the whole subject of flood control," said Dwight W. Davis, secretary of war, who arrived with Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of the army engineers.

Mr. Davis will address the conference at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and General Jadwin, who has many weeks in the Mississippi valley flooded districts will follow him.

President Interested.
President Coolidge has expressed great interest in the whole problem and realizes that it will be one of the greatest before the next congress," said Secretary Davis.

The Secretary of War said that he thought great good could come from the conference. He will return to Washington tomorrow. The fact that he left urgent business at Washington to attend the conference was an indication of the administration's serious interest in the flood problem.

The organization committee of eleven appointed yesterday spent the morning mapping out a program. It was tentative, except for announcements of the hours for the addresses by Mr. Davis and General Jadwin.

"I'd like to see every plan submitted laid before the flood control committee of the House and the commerce committee of the Senate," said Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who resigned the chair after making the meeting to order.

Coming from Washington with Secretary Davis and General Jadwin was Brig. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, executive head of the Inland Water Ways Corporation.

Many Notables There
Mayor A. J. O'Keefe of New Orleans, one of the sponsors of the conference, headed a delegation arriving from New Orleans. The train picked up additional coaches at Cairo and many individual delegates en route.

Senator L. D. Tyson of Tennessee also arrived early and U. S. Senator Nye and Gov. Scobie of North Dakota led a delegation of 20 which included Congressmen Sinclair and Thomas Hall.

In all 22 United States senators were reported in Chicago as delegates and a special senatorial meeting was called.

The delegates, whipped into a semblance of a gigantic formal convention rather than a loosely formed unofficial mass meeting, were warned that the whole country was watching their deliberations.

SCHULER RESIDENCE BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE; GARAGE AT WM. ROUKE HOME AFIRE

Firemen Had Work to Do in Two Threatening Blazes

The residence of William A. Schuler, 607 East Second street, was badly damaged by fire and water yesterday afternoon. About 4:10 neighbors discovered the roof of the residence burning and summoned the fire department. The blaze is believed to have started from sparks from the chimney and the attic was a mass of flame when the department arrived. The blaze had gained considerable headway and two streams of water were used to extinguish the fire. The damage by fire and water was estimated at about $2,000 which is covered by insurance.

At 1 o'clock this morning the department responded to an alarm, making a run to the W. M. Rouke residence at 412 East Chamberlain street. The loft above the garage was burning and it was necessary to use both water and chemicals to extinguish the flames. A Ford coupe was removed from the garage undamaged. Sparks from a bon fire which was burning last evening are believed to have lodged in the loft and started a slow burning fire. The damage, which was estimated at $200 was covered by insurance.

BODIES OF TWO MURDERED GIRLS FOUND IN FIELD

One Nude, Other Fully Clothed; Both Had Put Up Struggle

Scranton, Pa., June 2.—(AP)—Two young women were found slain today in a field at New Boston, near Pittston, Pa. One body was nude and the other fully clothed.

The women were about 19 and 20 years old and one had been shot and strangled and the other choked to death, the police said.

Discovery of a disabled automobile and further investigation disclosed the dead body of a fully clothed girl of twenty.

Seventy-five yards away was the body of the other victim, nude.

It was evident that there had been a terrific struggle by the girls to save their lives.

In the clothing of one was found a pay envelope with the name "E. Foncel."

Three Balloons on Air Line to Maine

Akron, O., June 2.—(AP)—An air line route from Akron to the state of Maine was drifted over by a trio of pilots who captured the first three places in the 1927 National Balloon Race completed yesterday.

The event was won by W. T. Van Orman, Akron, piloting the Goodyear entry. It was Van Orman's fourth consecutive victory in the National Balloon contest. His aide was W. W. Morton of Akron.

Of the 15 huge gas, bags entered in the contest, only three reached Maine and that successful trio thereby won the right to participate in the International Bennett Cup Balloon Race at Denver next September 10.

Van Orman, according to official headquarters figures released here, floated over a distance of 727 miles to win first place. E. J. Hill, pilot of the Detroit III, Detroit Flying Club entry, won second honors with a flight of 665 miles.

Captain W. W. Kepner, pilot of U. S. Army No. 3, covered 602 miles.

Japan Accepts Coolidge Invitation to Arms Meet

Tokyo, June 2.—(AP)—Japan's acceptance of President Coolidge's invitation to the tripartite conference on the limitation of naval armaments was inspired by a genuine love of peace and a sincere wish to co-operate constructively with the other powers, said Admiral Okada, minister of the navy, in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press today. He emphasized that his country was ready to reduce its navy "to the minimum of defense requirements."

ing, awaiting action by a grand jury. The special officers sworn in at a mass meeting of citizens yesterday, augmented a detachment of five hundred national guardsmen who were rushed to the scene shortly after the trouble started Sunday night.

Throughout the rioting, the object of the mob's wrath, B. F. Levins, who had confessed he killed Herman Merrell, his wife and three children, thinking they were another family who had done him a "dirty trick," was safe from their fury, imprisoned in another county, officers announced.

MISSISSIPPI HAS GONE ABOVE HIGH STAGE NEAR CAIRO

Fed by Flood Waters of Tributaries Water Rises Steadily

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—(AP)—Fed by flood waters of the Illinois, Wabash and Ohio rivers, the Mississippi river at Cairo, Ill., today went above flood stage of 45 feet for the second time this spring. The reading at 7 a. m., was 45.3, a rise of 1.1 in 24 hours. The levees at Cairo, however, protect against a flood up to 60 feet.

The Wabash at Mt. Carmel, Ill., reached a stage of 24.8, a rise of .3 and 8.8 above flood level. Rising waters washed out 150 feet of track on the Big Four railroad between Lawrenceville and Billet, north of Mt. Carmel, last night and trains were derailed via Vincennes, over the B. & O.

The weather bureau here forecast that the Mississippi from Alton, Ill., to Cape Girardeau, Mo., would rise slightly for three days. The stage here today was 28.9, a rise of .5. Flood level is 30 feet.

FOOD FOR REFUGEES

New Orleans, La., June 2.—(AP)—Supplies were being rushed today to 300 or 400 persons on the bank of the Atchafalaya river as a result of a report that they have been without food for two days.

A boat was dispatched last night with food for the refugees and enough forage for 1000 head of livestock. Additional supplies will be sent from Baton Rouge today. A naval aviator who flew over Morgan City yesterday reported that only two blocks in the city were above water.

With the greatest part of the struggle of save lives over, a slow demobilization of relief forces has been started.

ARKANSAS REHABILITATION

Helena, Ark., June 2.—(AP) Rehabilitation and reconstruction in the flooded districts of this county began with the first fall of water and have not ceased since.

Much fertile land is still under water and cannot be touched with the plow for days to come, but planting has started on thousands of acres that have been uncovered.

Plantations are now green with emergency crops and tents supplied by the war department are furnishing temporary shelter.

BEARDSTOWN ACTIVE

Beardstown, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—With the Illinois river standing at 24.4 feet this morning citizens here are planning rehabilitation work.

A petition for the formation of the Beardstown Sanitary District with bonding powers of $125,000 was filed late Wednesday. This is a move to secure funds for the building of necessary internal improvements when the sea wall is finished. New sewers to carry out the seepage water and other improvements are planned.

The proposition will be submitted to a popular vote at an election later in the month.

Coolidge to Meet Editors of Nation

Lincoln, Neb., June 2.—(AP)—President Coolidge will receive members of the National Editorial Association when they make their tour of Nebraska and the Black Hills of South Dakota the middle of this month, Ole Buck, secretary of the Nebraska Press Association, who is in charge of tour plans, was notified today.

The point where the editorial travelers will meet the President has not been selected yet, nor has a definite date been set, Mr. Buck said. President Coolidge will spend his summer vacation at the State Game Lodge in the Black Hills.

The N. E. A. special train will leave Omaha June 5 and will return June 26.

Coolidge to Have Real Car During His Vacation

Washington.—President Coolidge will have a duplicate of his regular limousine available for his use when he arrives in the Black Hills. A new Lincoln car bearing the coat of arms and similar in all details to the one he uses here has been arranged for him in the west.

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—The quo warranto bill, exempting the Governor, members of the general assembly and other constitutional officers from the provisions of the quo warranto act, was filed with the secretary of state today after having been signed by Governor Small last night.

DURAND PREACHER GETS "VACATION" FROM HIS DUTIES

Faces Second Trial on Charges Preferred by Young Girl

Rev. John A. Logan Warren, pastor of the M. E. church at Durand, facing trial before a group of pastors on charges brought about by Miss Hazel Lamb who was formerly employed as a maid in his home, was relieved of duty at the charge and will face similar charges at the district conference next October, according to a decision reached by the jurors. Simultaneously, it was announced that the pastor would withdraw his $50,000 libel suit against A. E. Swanson, Judd Van Sickle, Albert Fritz, Mrs. Sylvia Sedaman, Wallace and Edgar Best, members of his parish. Friends announced that the pastor would "take a vacation" from duties until the conference. The fact that he was not unfrocked was considered a victory in his favor, while proponents of the charges were equally pleased with the decision because the parish will no longer be under his control and the charges are held in abeyance pending an investigation by the district church heads.

It was said that the Rev. Mr. Warren had requested a leave of absence before submitting to trial.

Supt. Carpenter Presides

Tuesday's hearing was most informal, many members of the parish being unaware that it was in progress, it is said. Rev. C. K. Carpenter, district superintendent, presided at representative of Bishop Edwin Hughes, Chicago, who had been scheduled to act as "court."

Seven pastors acted as jurors and Rev. Mr. Warren was represented by Dr. Quincy Wright, pastor of Centennial M. E. church, Rockford. Rev. Mr. Wright's request that the hearing be continued so that he might better acquaint himself with the details, was denied. Rev. Frank Sheets, former Rockford pastor, acted as prosecutor.

Girl Tells Story

Miss Lamb appeared and told the same story to the pastors that she had previously repeated to members of her family and the Durand church board. The alleged attacks were said to have been made last September while the pastor and members of his congregation were celebrating the opening of a new church. Fifteen other witnesses were introduced by Dr. Sheets in presenting his charges.

Several character witnesses appearing on behalf of Rev. Mr. Warren, and his own denial of the charges constituted his defense.

Case Rocks Durand

The charges have rocked Durand and the decision of the pastors, together with the announcement that the pastor would be relieved of his duties and leave the village immediately, seemed to meet with general approval among members of the parish.

108 Lost in Sinking of Steamer During a Storm

Manila, June 2.—(AP)—The storm which caused the sinking of the steamer Negros, off Romblon Island Sunday with a probable loss of 108 lives, abated today giving the rescue workers an opportunity to aid the few survivors.

Red Cross headquarters here voted to send the steamer Santou to the aid of the survivors with food and clothing.

Reports that other ships were missing in the storm could not be confirmed here.

WRIT TOO LATE TO KEEP YOUTH FROM FARM WORK

James Wallack Delivered to Vandalia Before Stay Arrived

Attorneys who have been actively engaged for several days in planning a program which would prevent James Wallack from entering the state work farm at Vandalia, were confronted with another obstacle yesterday, after they had succeeded in securing a writ of supersedeas from Justice Oscar E. Heard. Upon the receipt of the writ and the fixing of the amount of bond, the attorneys learned that Wallack had been delivered to the state work farm upon his recommitment. Chief Deputy Richardson took Wallack to the institution early yesterday morning.

Sheriff Ward Miller was notified last evening shortly after 5 o'clock of the writ of supersedeas and the fixing of the amount of bond, but the prisoner was no longer in his jurisdiction. Today, it appeared that the chief justice of the supreme court would again be called upon to issue another order directed to Superintendent Brown of the state farm, ordering Wallack's release.

Justice Oscar E. Heard late yesterday granted the application for a writ of supersedeas, and fixed Wallack's bond at $3,000.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF DIXON HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE HELD FRIDAY EVE AT ASSEMBLY

Shryock, president of the Southern Illinois Teachers' college at Carbondale, will deliver the annual commencement address Friday evening at the exercises to be held in the auditorium at Assembly park. ## MRS. VANDERBILT GETS DIVORCE IN PARIS: NO MONEY

Former Virginia Fair to Ask Church to Nullify Her Marriage

Paris, June 2.—(AP)—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, the former Virginia Fair, was granted a decree of divorce today.

The marriage of William K. Vanderbilt to Virginia Fair in 1899 was one of the most important society events of its day.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's divorce plea, and a countersuit by her husband were filed with the Paris court on April 28, the wife charging that she had been refused access to their domicile in Paris, and the husband pleading the wife's coldness of disposition. No application was made for alimony.

Friends of the couple have stated that, following the divorce, Mrs. Vanderbilt might apply to the Catholic ecclesiastical courts for nullification of the marriage on the ground that she was subjected to undue pressure by her parents in the matter.

This was the ground on which the Holy Roman Rota last year declared null the marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and the former Consuela Vanderbilt.

MARKS ON BLOODY UNION SUIT FOUND IN ALLEY ARE TRACED TO STERLING ESTABLISHMENT

SKELETON FOUND IN UTAH NOT OF OGLE BLACK HAWK

Historian Dispels Belief of Rockford History Student

Definite information that the skeleton of Chief Black Hawk, now reposing in the L. D. S. Church museum at Salt Lake City, Utah, is not that of the former chieftain of the Sac and Fox tribes in the Rock River valley, is contained in a letter received by Dr. Sidney P. Wilgus of Rockford from Lev Edgar Young of the University of Utah.

Recently, Dr. and Mrs. Wilgus visited the museum and were surprised to find the skeleton of a Chief Black Hawk on exhibition there. They thought possibly it might be that of the great Indian leader of the Rock river valley, and suggested that if such was the case, efforts be made to return it here and inter the body near Black Hawk monument at Oregon.

Writing to Dr. Wilgus, Mr. Young, a member of the department of western history explained:

"I will send you right away the story of Black Hawk, who is not the same Black Hawk with whom Abraham Lincoln had to deal. The Utah Indian was the cause of a great many depredations in Utah history during the '60s and it is the remains of this Indian which you saw in our museum."

Stolen Car is Found Along Road at Byron

George Belier's Chrysler motorcar, which was stolen from this city Tuesday night, was found Wednesday afternoon, abandoned along route 2 about four miles south of Byron. Chief of Police VanBibber took Mr. Belier to Byron when he received word of the recovery of the car, and the owner drove it back to Dixon. Investigation showed that the lone thief had stopped at Smith's Place at Castle Rock for gasoline, and evidently had run into an abutment near Byron, springing a frame of the car. A fine top coat and blanket which Belier had left in the car were not molested.

Band of Gypsies Told to Keep on Their Way

A fleet of about a dozen cars loaded with gypsies, after roving about Ashton, Amboy and Grand Detour, arrived in Dixon last evening about 5:30 and created no small amount of excitement for a short time. The cars were parked on the river bank and the occupants were well scattered about the business district when both police and sheriff's offices were notified. They were hurriedly assembled and started west on the Lincoln highway.

May Lead to Identification of Owner: Sheriff Busy

The mystery surrounding the finding of a part of a suit of underwear and several gauze bandages, soaked with blood, early yesterday morning in the rear of the Illinois Northern Utilities company's office building on West First street remained unsolved today. Sheriff Ward Miller had made an extensive investigation but at noon had not been successful in finding the owner of the garments, who is believed to be suffering from a wound in the vicinity of the left shoulder.

The laundry marks, "C. D. W." were traced yesterday to a Sterling laundry and police officials of that city were aiding Sheriff Miller in his investigation. The laundry where the marks were identified operates agencies in Oregon, Grand Detour, Franklin Grove and Dixon and a careful check is being made in an effort to ascertain the identity of the owner.

Sheriff Miller today was making a canvass of all of the local physicians, believing that the wounded person was hit all of the local clothing stores, all of the local clothing stores was made yesterday in an effort to have the blood soaked garment identified, but this was without success.

A careful examination of the torn underwear leads to the belief that the wearer is a small man, probably slightly over five feet in height and weighing not to exceed 150 pounds.

AMERICAN NAVAL FORCE ORDERED TO BATTLE ZONE

Fear of Emergency in China Brings Orders to Move

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Seven American naval vessels in southern Chinese waters have sailed for Chiocheo, on the Gulf of Chihli near Tientsin, presumably to be nearer the zone of operations of the contending Chinese factions.

Fear that an emergency might be caused by the collapse of the northern Chinese army south of the Yellow river has led American naval authorities to order between four and five thousand marines to Tientsin where large numbers of Americans and other foreigners are concentrating.

Movement of the marines from Shanghai and the Philippines which has been in progress for several days has been reported to Washington and its logical development is expected to be the transfer of the American legation from Peking to Tientsin or the carrying out of the proposed strengthening of the Peking guard by 2000 additional troops.

He had been dismissed from service at the institution May 21.

MASSACHUSETTS GOVERNOR PICKS COMMISSION TO STUDY VANZETTI-SACCO CONVICTION FOR ADVICE

Boston, June 2.—(AP)—The internationally celebrated case of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti swung on to new ground today with the appointment by Gov. Fuller of a commission to aid him in his review of the long litigation surrounding the conviction and sentence to death of the admitted radicals as slayers.

A Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University; Robert Grant, formerly a judge of the probate court and a novelist; and Samuel W. Stratton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology comprise the advisory committee.

They will sit independently of the Governor, who for several weeks has devoted a large part of his time to his own review of the proceedings.

Vanzetti and Sacco are under sentence to die during the week of July 1 for the murder of a South Braintree paymaster and his guard more than seven years ago.

FLIGHT TO PARIS POSTPONED UNTIL FRIDAY BY LINDY

France Eagerly Awaits Chance to Give Him Great Farewell

Kenley, Eng., June 2.—(AP)—After waiting in vain for weather conditions to clear up, Captain Lindbergh this afternoon postponed his flight to Paris until tomorrow. He will spend the night at the officers' quarters here and hopes to get away dawn.

A thick haze at the flying field with reports of fog over the Channel and rain at Paris caused the flier to make his decision.

PLAN HOME COMING

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—A nation eager to reward uncommon skill and valor looked forward today to June 11 when Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, arriving aboard the Cruiser Memphis is to be acclaimed by his own people personified by their President.

This young flier, whose exploits of the air have stirred the admiration of the world, is destined to find a homecoming equal to his remarkable receptions in the lands where he was a stranger. Washington has been fired into unusual enthusiasm.

After he had been honored by President Coolidge on behalf of the nation, Lindbergh will be free to go to New York from where he flew to fame; to St. Louis, which made his history making flight possible; and to any other cities which might be granted the privilege of honoring him.

The extent of the flier's stay in Washington will be determined alone by his wishes.

May Arrive June 11

Lindbergh is scheduled to reach Washington Saturday June 11 but if the arrival is late at night President Coolidge will decorate him with the distinguished flying cross on Monday.

During his stay in Washington, Lindbergh will be the guest of President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House and it is probable that the flier's mother also will be asked to stay there. She had decided to take part in the national welcome. Captain Lindbergh was particularly elated over the rapidly with which the cruiser Memphis will make the journey and now that he has met Kings and scores of diplomats and prominent personages in France, Belgium and England, he is pleased with the prospect of being received by President Coolidge.

N. Y. Plans Welcome.
The gigantic welcome arranged by New York will be carried out, Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the mayor's reception committee, said after a telephone conversation with Secretary of War Davis in Washington.

Lindbergh will fly "The Spirit of St. Louis" from Washington to Staten Island June 14. He will cross the harbor on the city tug Macona and will parade up Broadway and receive an official welcome at City Hall. Then will follow a big parade up Fifth Avenue to Central Park where Gov. Smith will decorate him with the state medal of valor.

FRANCE AWAITS HIM

Paris, June 2.—(AP)—Captain Lindbergh, or "Lindbar" as the French pronounce his name, again took the center of the Parisian stage today. The newspapers were full of details of his return to France from England, scheduled for this evening, and the arrangements for his departure for home on the Cruiser Memphis Saturday. They had two new kindly caricatures of him and a number of old photos, including one of a wrecked plane from which he escaped by means of a parachute at Bloomington, Illinois.

Lind's farewell visit to Paris may be inconspicuous, but if the French have their way he is not going to succeed in hiding

ENJOYING LIFE IN AMERICA.

Not long ago a well-known book reviewer remarked of a recently published autobiography, "This book will be a surprise to our intellectuals. Why, the author actually seems to have enjoyed living in America."

It is startling, when you stop to think of it, that so many of our best writers nowadays are taking it for granted that America is a poor sort of place in which to enjoy life. They seem to feel that we are missing something; that we have paid so much attention to industry and business that we have no time for the finer graces of existence; that our big cities and our small towns alike are suffering from an over-emphasis on hustle and bustle.

All of this may be very true; but we suspect that it is rather absurd.

To our notion America is the best place to live on the planet. And we believe that this is true not because of our country's natural advantages, nor because of its prosperity, but chiefly because of the spirit that is abroad in it.

America is a beautiful land, to be sure. Each section differs from every other and each has its own peculiar appeal. There is old New England, with the veneer of modern industrialism laid too thinly over its colonial heritage; there are the Atlantic coast states, with their busy plains stretching back to blue mountain ranges, and the salt breeze coming in from the sea; there is the fertile, languorous south, steeped in an ancient tradition; there is the amazing middle west, with busy cities flung wide on prosperous, wellkept countryside; there are the limitless rolling plains of the west, where the air is bracing and the sky is cloudless; there are the magnificent Rockies, and the blue-and-gold of the Pacific coast beaches, with the luxuriant valleys behind them.

Yet it is not this catalogue of attractions that makes us glad we live in America. It is the spirit of hope that is to be found in every hamlet in the land; the indomitable, forward-looking spirit that expresses itself in boosterism, in towering skyscrapers, in advertising campaigns, in grand sort of "bigger and better" mania.

True enough, some of these manifestations are at times unpleasant. But consider: almost alone among white nations, we are living in the present and the future—especially the future. Our faces are turned forward. We have few traditions and we do not miss them. We lack the artistic expression of Europe and we hardly miss it. We are too busy going somewhere.

We do not know exactly where we are going so fast; most of us, probably, do not care. We know that we are forever moving; we know that our life is keyed to a rapid pace; and we suspect that our hustlers and hustlers are, somehow, a trifle wiser than their critics. For we are fulfilling destiny on a grand scale.

It is useless for any of us to cry out against this tendency. We are committed to it. We are fated to build largely and rapidly, to talk and think in terms of millions, to wring from our lives the last drops of energy.

Why? We hardly know. Yet, deep down, we feel assured that we are setting up a new civilization; that our gaudy dreams will prove to contain a beautiful element of truth.

WATCHING HISTORY.

It will pay you to keep your eyes on England these days. It is becoming daily more apparent that history is being made over there.

Labor and Conservative forces are engaged in a bitter parliamentary struggle. Its bitterness can be gauged by the fact that one Labor member cried "liar!" at Premier Baldwin during a debate the other day.

Two opposing schools of political and economic thought are clashing. Sooner or later one of them will win out. The effects on the British empire will be profound. It is worth watching.

REWARDED.

We are glad that the Pulitzer prize for 1926 has been awarded to the Daily News of Canton, Ohio. It is a fitting tribute to the service rendered by Don Mellett.

You are doubtless familiar with Mellett's career; how he fought tenaciously against graft and corruption in his city's governmental and political life, and how he paid with his life for that fight. It was a noble record; a record of which the country may be proud.

The Pulitzer prize was well earned. The Canton Daily News has deserved it. It has continued the good fight since Mellett's death, and Canton, incidentally, is a better place to live in now than it was a year ago.

President Coolidge, with a raccoon, a bear, two lion cubs, a kangaroo and a deer, now has been given a baby hippopotamus. There are no donkeys in the collection, however.

Mellon announces that our paper money is going to be made smaller. Gosh, we'll have to stretch it to make ends meet.

Maybe some of these states would have better roads if they'd arrest the autoists who carry away tons of them every season.

It's sometimes better to receive the fishy eye than a black one.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

A great commotion now took place. Of Clowey they could find no trace. He'd fallen in the water and had not come up as yet. "What can we do?" weeped Conny. "This stream is over Clowey's head. If there are sharks within it, one has got him now, I'll bet."

"This makes me feel just awful bad. Just think of all the fun we've had, and now it has to end like this," wailed Conny to the bunch. But Scouty said, "Don't lose hope yet. He'll still come up all right, I'll bet. King Roar will come and rescue him. At least that is my hunch."

Just then the water bubbled high. A spray shot upwards toward the sky. The Tinymites were startled and they all looked on with awe. "Was misty now, as it could be. So much so they could hardly see. But, soon it cleared and they were mightily cheered by what they saw."

Old King Roar rose up from the stream, just like a story, or a dream.

"Don't worry, little Tinymites," said he. "I bring no harm. Instead I bring good news to you. Your hopes and wishes have come true. I've saved your good friend Clowey. Here he is, beneath my arm."

And, sure enough, the king was right, for Clowey's head popped up in sight. "Hello there, bunch," he shouted. "My, I'm glad that I am back. I sure was scared when I fell in. My ears were filled up with a din. I guess I must have fainted then, for everything went black."

"Then," said the king, "I came along. I knew that something must be wrong. I found this little fellow in the water way down there. Of course I grabbed him by the waist and then swam upward with much haste. I know that he'd be safe when we had reached the open air."

SAINT and SINNER

At the first drug store they reached, Faith parked the car, on the back seat of which Bob sat between his two prisoners, Brady W. Hutchinson and Sammy Horne. Hutchinson and went in to telephone. Churchill himself answered the phone.

In a low, rapid voice Faith told him where she was, and made her request that the lawyer join her and Bob as soon as possible. Rather grudgingly, but unable to refuse the compelling urgency in her voice, Churchill promised to leave his house at once in his own car.

When Churchill arrived, within ten minutes, in a large sedan driven by his chauffeur, he was amazed to find Bob Hathaway guarding two prisoners with an automatic.

"Hutchinson!" he gasped. "Good Lord, Bob, what does this mean?" "Meet the murderer, Mr. Churchill," Bob grinned. "And his playmate, Sammy Horne."

When Bob told him of Sammy Horne's unsolicited confession, involving himself as well as Hutchinson, Churchill whistled with amazement. "Well, I guess that clinches it," he admitted. "We've already introduced testimony on the brown and yellow taxi seen in the alley behind Clowey's house the night of the murder. The shoes Hutchinson wore as the crippled beggar will undoubtedly fit the measurements of those footprints in the snow."

"And I'll stake my life on that bit of strap fitting into this harness that Hutchinson used to strap up his leg so that it would make those lying footprints," Bob interrupted eagerly. "And you have the threatening letter that Hutchinson wrote to Uncle Ralph. It shouldn't be hard to pin that on him, in view of all the circumstances and the dope you've already got on Hutchinson through Crowell."

"But if Sammy Horne confesses," Faith began, bewildered.

"Takes more than a confession to convict a man of murder," Churchill told her. "Have to have corroborating testimony. But we've got more than enough evidence to hang Hutchinson and send Horne up for life, unless he gets leniency for turning state's evidence. I doubt if Banning will be willing to let him turn state's evidence, however, since you two seem to have caught them both dead to rights. But what I don't want is for Banning or the papers to get wind of this until court opens tomorrow, and then I'll manage the show. Cherry has got to be vindicated in open court. Not a word from either of you."

"Can Cherry know tonight?" Faith cried, disappointment clouding her joy.

"Best to keep her in the dark, too," Churchill advised. "There might be some slip-up, and the shock of the disappointment, if she isn't immediately released, might go hard with her. Oh, Lord! What a show that will be in the morning! I can hardly wait to see Banning's face when I spring the news!"

On their way to the police station, Churchill stopped at his office to take from the safe containing the exhibits for the defense the bit of leather strap which Bob had found in the snow beneath his uncle's window the night of the murder. Returning to Bob's car he examined the complicated leather and metal harness which Faith had found under the seat in the murderer's taxicab.

"Just as I expected," he nodded. "The strap that goes around the leg has been broken and mended. This bit of strap fits exactly. One more link! Now I'm going to yank up Hutchinson's trouser leg and see if there are any marks on it from this harness pressing against the flesh. That one link is needed to clinch his identity with Phil the beggar."

It took Bob and the chauffeur to hold Hutchinson while the lawyer made his examination. "There are the marks all right," Churchill exclaimed. "Well, Hutch, my boy, I guess it's the chair for you this time, instead of state's prison. I'll feel safer when the judge is turned on, for you have a nasty habit of getting even, poor Clowey!"

CIVIC ACHIEVEMENTS

BY DON E. MOWRY
Secretary, the American Community

Any number of growing American cities, taking in outlying suburbs, have found that a duplication of street names results from the incorporations. The problem of renaming streets to avoid this confusion is worthy of immediate attention, wherever it is found.

They had the problem in Clinton, Iowa. Tourists were always twisted. There was lack of system. Subdivisions were added without regard to a general or future city plan. The problem was definite, but difficult of solution. Each time the matter came up the common council did not act. Differences of opinion in group meetings resulted in no progress.

Finally, the Chamber of Commerce, believing that the general plan was approved by the people, submitted it to the streets and alleys committee of the council. With few changes the plan was approved and recommended to the council in the form of an ordinance which the city attorney saw was in proper form.

An ordinance had to be read three times and then put on its final passage. Each councilman was seen, all agreed to suspend the rules and have all three readings on one night. In fifteen minutes the whole thing was over.

Several weeks later a renumbering ordinance was prepared and passed. Now new signs are being erected and the city engineer is giving each house its official number. Incidentally the whole town is united.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE by PAUL ADAMS

The scene is laid in the cafe of the Hotel de Metz, Ste. Meneshaud, France. Time—Recently. The principal characters—Monsieur Emile Denonfont, former principal Chef de Gare of the Chemin de Fer de l'Est who directed the operation of the trains that carried five huge four-inch American naval guns to the front in 1918—and Monsieur Jean Grossetet, patron of the hotel.

Emile now retired, has requested a glass of wine. He called for an unusual Spanish vintage, an aperitif, for it was near lunch-time. Jean brought the bottle, covered with dust and cobwebs, from his cellar. He drew the cork with a healthy pop. Taking accurate aim, he poured the amber-colored wine, of the consistency of a light oil, into the glass.

Emile picked up the glass and sniffed. He wrinkled his brows. It was apparent that something displeased him. He brought his fist down on the table. In deep tones, filled with high anger, he assailed Jean.

Jean, a young man with a mustache, remonstrated. Evidently he was "arguing back." He sniffed the wine. Then he picked up the cork.

He sniffed that, too. He sniffed it with long, deep sniffs. He handed the cork to Emile.

Emile sniffed. Three gentlemen at an adjoining table, attracted by the argument, came over. Each one sniffed the wine. Then each one sniffed the cork. All five were talking between sniffs. Emile took a couple more sniffs of the wine and the cork. He continued his aggressive remarks and gestures. Jean, the patron, sniffed some more, also. But, it could be judged from the tone of his voice that he was weakening.

Finally, after everyone had sniffed a round or two more, Jean subsided. Emile, with a broad grin of satisfaction, was victorious. He had declared that the cork in the bottle was not a good cork and that the smell of the cork could be detected in the wine. Jean had contended that he was wrong.

The argument that followed, with all the sniffing, requiring just an hour—from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. When it was concluded Emile drunk the well-sniffed wine. And Jean put the well-sniffed cork back in the bottle and put the bottle on the shelf.

Moral—Watch your corks.

Ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

OBITUARY

MRS. OLIVER W. HOFF
(Contributed)

Mary Virginia Hoff, daughter of Jacob and Mary Kathryn Bucher, was born in North Carolina September 16, 1872. She departed this life May 26, 1927 at her late home in Dixon, Ill., at the age of 54 years 9 months and 10 days. Mrs. Hoff had prepared the noonday meal and while sitting at the table eating her summons came and she passed away almost immediately.

In her earlier life the family removed to Pennsylvania, from whence in 1896 she and her brother, Horace, came to this state. On March 21, 1898, she was united in marriage to Oliver W. Hoff of Nachusa, Ill., which place remained her home for the most part during her married life. The last several years she lived at her late home. To this union there were born ten children, two of whom, Miriam and an infant daughter, preceded her in death. While residing in Pennsylvania she had united with the Lutheran church. When she came to Nachusa she transferred her church membership to St. Paul's Lutheran church of that place. Mrs. Hoff was a kindly disposed woman, a good wife and mother and a well intentioned neighbor. Many friends and neighbors will miss her kindly presence but in the home where her place as wife and mother has been made vacant, her motherly love and tender interest so suddenly removed, there will this heavy blow be most keenly felt.

Those of near kin who survive and mourn her untimely departure are the following: the husband, Oliver W. Hoff; of sons and daughters, Holman E. Mrs. Kathryn E. Bruckner, Lennis W., Calvin S., Mary A., Edith L., Ellen V. and Gladys A. She also leaves two brothers and three sisters: Horace E. Bucher of Ashton, Ill., John, Belle, Erna and Florence of Pennsylvania. Her father, mother, two brothers and one sister have preceded her in death.

The funeral services were held on Saturday, May 28, from her late home at 1 p. m. and from St. Paul's Lutheran church at Nachusa at 2:00 p. m., with pastor D. P. Heltzel in charge. The interment took place in the Brethren cemetery on the Lincoln Highway.

BONNIE PEARL HOEFLE

Bonnie Pearl Hoefle, daughter of Ulysses and Pearl Hoefle, was born near Polo, Ill., July 4, 1926, and passed away May 26, 1927, aged ten months and 22 days. She leaves to mourn her loss her father and her mother and brother Dean; also her grandmother, Diehl, of Mt. Morris, and grandfather and grandmother Hoefle of Grand Junction, Iowa, besides other relatives and friends who have learned to love her. One sister, Odella preceded her in death less than three years ago. On Sunday she was taken sick with lobular pneumonia but in spite of all that loving hands could do she passed quietly away early Thursday morning at 1:30 after an illness of only four days. Though her life was short she won a favorite place in the hearts of all who knew her ever ready smiles. Her place in the home can never be forgotten or refilled. Another angel has only blossomed on earth to bloom in heaven. Funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Elder C. W. Stauffer officiating. Immediately after the services the family left by automobile for Beaver, Iowa, the former home of the parents, where on Sunday afternoon services were held at the church with burial in the cemetery nearby.

FINE PROGRAM IS ASSURED FOR BENEFIT TUESDAY EVE

Choirs of City United to Aid Dunbar Community Center

The program for the concert to be given at the M. E. church next Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Dunbar Community Center, is a rounding into form and promise an evening of really enjoyable entertainment. The choir of the city are combining to provide a large chorus under the direction of Prof. J. W. Johnston, and there will also be solo, duet and quartet numbers, while instrumental features will be provided by the Y. M. C. A. Boys' band and a string quartet.

The purpose of the concert is to raise funds for replacing the leaky roof on the Community Center and to provide a club room. The poor roof on the structure is resulting in damage to the walls and furnishings at every storm, and it is said nearly $1,000 will be needed to properly repair and equip the place. No admission will be charged at Tuesday's concert, but an offering will be taken, which the promoters hope will be liberal.

The choir which will take part in the concert will meet for rehearsal at the M. E. church at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

PLOW MAKERS WIN FROM "FASCISTS" IN HARD BATTLE

Heavy Hitting Featured Twilight League En- gagement Last Eve

The Merchants-Clerks baseball organization, looking more like a section of Mussolini's army, attired in black shirts and caps, went down in defeat before the hard hitting J. I. Case Company team in the City Twilight game last evening at Brown Field by a score of 9 to 6. The Merchants-Clerks started off well and appeared to have everything their own way, assaulting Bartell's offerings in the second inning for four tallies and driving him from the mound. "Buck" Lightner, the old reliable, stepped into the breach and went along smoothly until the fifth when two more tallies counted.

Manager Kelly's offerings were padded hard from the outset and he retired in the fourth to permit Laing to finish the battle. Three home runs featured the bill, Lightner and McKern registering for the plow makers while C. Scott sent one over the right field fence in the final frame with Brown Wedlake on first, ahead of him.

One of the umpires left the field in the final inning when he was booed for his decisions. The official was going along and giving good satisfaction to both teams as well as the majority of the fans, who understood what was going on, but despite his efforts to be fair he was hooted by a few, who were witnessing a good exhibition of baseball without paying admission, and deserted the game. The managers of the various teams expect to hold a meeting soon with a view of putting a stop to the practice of "riding" the umpires who are serving without compensation for the entertainment of the lovers of the sport. The score of the game was as follows:

PILE SUFFERERS

SAMMY MANDELL IS HELD AFTER DEATH OF HIS OPPONENT

Chicago Fighter Broke Neck in Fight With Champ Last Eve

KANSAS CITY, Kas. June 2.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, lightweight boxing champion, today was under $5,000 bond to appear at a coroner's inquest in connection with the death of Steve Adams, Chicago, who died in the ring here last night after being counted out in the second round of a scheduled ten round no-decision fight with the titleholder.

A broken neck was announced as the cause of Adams' death by Dr. J. W. Hayward, county coroner.

The boxers mixed freely from the opening bell and in the second round Adams jumped back from a clinch. His head struck the top rope and he slid to the floor. Referee Bates counted him out. Adams was unconscious and Dr. L. D. Mahle, medical examiner for the State Boxing Commission, pronounced him dead.

Found Neck Broken.
Dr. Hayward said his examination revealed dislocation of the second and third cervical vertebrae. It was understood testimony would be taken at the inquest today in an effort to decide whether Adams' neck was broken in the fall or by a blow.

Mandell, known as a clever boxer rather than a hard hitter was overcome.

"I hit him in the stomach with a left jab and he fell into the ropes. I was as much surprised as anyone when he did not return to his feet. The blow was well placed but not a hard hit."

H. W. Hargiss of Emporia, chairman of the State Boxing Commission

FACTS about used car allowances

Most new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values?.... Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially?.... Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; but sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

WHEN YOU are ready to trade-in your present car, remember that after all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of a new car.

WHEN PARIS WENT WILD OVER "LINDY"

FIRST REAL PHOTOS TELL PICTURE STORY OF AMERICAN AVIATOR'S TUMULTUOUS RECEPTION

These first actual photographs to reach this country from Paris give a hint of the acclaim with which the French capital greeted Captain Charles A. Lindbergh. Above Lindbergh is shown in the middle balcony of the American embassy, waving a French flag and an American flag in response to the tumultuous shouts of the crowd below; the lower picture shows a human chain of French troops guarding his airplane at Le Bourget flying field after souvenirs hunters damaged it.

Even in a badly-torn suit borrowed from an embassy attaché—you can see how short the trousers are and how poorly the coat hangs—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh smiles bashfully as the throng before the embassy gives three loud cheers with Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, who is at Lindbergh's left, leading in the demonstration.

It took plenty of police to hold the crowds in line when Captain Charles A. Lindbergh went around in Paris as the upper photo shows. The car at the curb has just deposited the young flyer at the American Club; see how the eager Parisians press against the gendarmes in their desire to see the hero of the trans-Atlantic flight. Below are a close-up of Lindbergh, with his tousled sandy hair, and a view of him inspecting his plane the day after he landed.

France's Tribute to Lindbergh

Here is the first actual photograph to show Captain Charles A. Lindbergh with President Doumergue of France (center) and U. S. Ambassador Myron T. Herrick on the steps of the presidential residence in Paris just after Doumergue had made Lindbergh a knight of the Legion of Honor. The decoration can be seen pinned on the lapel of Lindbergh's borrowed suit of clothes.

How the Other Half Listens

For the first time in radio history, broadcast entertainers went out to learn how the other half—the radio fan public—listens in. It fell to the lot of three popular artists of station KFI at Los Angeles to try this stunt. They are, left to right, Helen Bennett, Louise Kloss and Mary Novis, bound for the Hawaiian Islands on their first step to discover how KFI comes in.

Of Course—The Lindy Lid!

How close on the heels of the times is fashion was again demonstrated by the speed with which the appearance of "The Lucky Lindy Lid" followed Captain Charles A. Lindbergh's aerial conquest of the Atlantic. Here it is, a Bruck Weiss hat, worn by Pauline Starke, cinema favorite.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Emmett Murtough, a youth of Kiltamall, a village in Ireland, goes to New York and is followed by Old Tom Kildare and his daughter Sheila. Sheila begins to recognize Emmett as a boaster and tries to evade the marriage. Old Tom urges her to marry him. Sheila becomes friends with the O'Sheas, who had settled in Hell's Kitchen a quarter of a century before, and whose son, Rory, is a prizefighter.

"Hello, mother, you home?"
"Tis our Rory," explained Mrs. O'Shea as she sprang to her feet to welcome her son. They met at the kitchen doorway, and Sheila turned at the muffled shriek of her hostess. A man, who couldn't see his face, for he had lifted Mrs. O'Shea up in his arms, gave the little old lady a smacking kiss and then sat her lightly down upon her feet.

"Hello, dad. Got great news." He stopped short as he saw Sheila, who blushed in confusion at being a party to this intimate home scene.

"Miss Kildare, this is my son, Rory," introduced Mrs. O'Shea. "I'm pleased to know you," said Rory as he walked over to her chair and held out his hand. Sheila bowed and shook hands with him shyly. A nice looking young man, she thought, at the first quick glance. It was not until later that she caught glimpse of the cauliflower ear that graced the left side of Rory the Battler's head, and shuddered and wondered how such a nice looking man could have been so scarred. Mrs. O'Shea bustled about the kitchen, calling to "Sheila, 'an' will ye get a cup, dear, there out of the pantry." Sheila did, and it warmed her to feel that she was part of this kindly household, even though an acquaintance of so short a time. When the steaming cup was set before Rory and Mrs. O'Shea had sat down in her rocking chair Michael began:

"Mr. Rory O'Shea has asked me to go to Coney Island, an' I'm going."

"An' what's the news?"
"Aw, can't it wait, dad?" he asked, with a glance at Sheila.
"Perhaps I had best be going, Mrs. O'Shea," spoke up Sheila hastily, but she really made no move to rise.

"Indeed, an' indeed not. 'Tis early it is. Go on, son, and tell us the news."
"I've got a fight! Fight! Sheila's eyes grew wide and wondering. "Campeau for twelve rounds and at the Garden! Oh, boy, what a chance! And it's real. No she-nanigans. And I can whip him if I ever whipped anybody in my life! He's a good man, but I took him for the count in five rounds four years ago and I can do it again. Reagan says if I knock him off I can come back into real money making and maybe get a chance at the champ later on."

"Oh, Rory, I don't think ye ought to be fighting any more at all, at all," protested Mrs. O'Shea. "But it means a comeback, mother, and certainly I ought to be getting mine after staying in the game nearly ten years. Isn't that right, dad?"
"It would be good if ye could, Rory, for ye have no trade an' ye'll need a bit of money while ye're learning one. What's your end in this?"
"It's winner take all. Twenty-five hundred dollars flat to the winner. The loser doesn't get a dime. I know it's a tough chance, and me with just money enough to get through my training expenses, but it means my chance, I'll ever get. We go on in the semi-finals to Brown and Malloy; that's something in itself."
"But what if you lose?" asked the anxious mother.
"Oh, that's just a chance you got to take, Mother," smiled Rory. "But now I don't think Miss Kildare is finding this very entertaining. Perhaps she doesn't know even what we are talking about." Sheila blushed. Of course, she has heard of prize fights, even the lads in Kiltamall were matched in the meadows there. "I'm a prize fighter, that is," with another ingenuous smile, "that's my profession. I been fighting for almost ten years, and this means that I get a new chance to win a place at the top."

"Oh!" said Sheila. She had read accounts of the fights held at the Garden and of the fabulous sums of money these American boxers earned, but never had she met one, and somehow this pleasant, smiling young man did not seem to be the sort she had pictured as a fighter to be at all!

Soon Rory was talking of this and of that, as the Irish do, with a joke now and then that kept the party in a fine humor. Rory had lost nothing of the easy blarney by having been born in America, thought Sheila, but he was none of the boasting kind. He told of the places to see in New York, the fine boardwalk at Coney Island and the fun and frolic there; of the Bronx Zoo and the strange and queer animals to be seen, and of the Battery and the Aquarium and trips up the Hudson on picnics given by political social clubs.

Sheila, when she bade them good night, for the first time since the day she had landed felt that there were dreams to be realized in this great city. It was Rory who took her to the door, and for a moment they stood in the hallway before the stairs that led to her home.

"You must let me take you to Coney Island. It's the last of the season now, but you'll love the sea and the walk and we'll have great fun."

"Some day I will," said Sheila. "How about next Sunday?"
urged Rory O'Shea, who was as fast with his tongue as he was with his fists.
"I'd love to," whispered Sheila as she turned and fed up the stairs. And Rory O'Shea gazed at the empty stairway until he heard a door slam on an upper floor.

CHAPTER V
America's Fairland
The West Side Club was a semi-political and social organization. Precinct leaders and workers in the ranks comprised its membership although small business men, who conducted the variety of shops along Ninth Avenue, found it to their benefit to pay dues and to appear at the occasional festivities. At night, however, it was well filled with political fry who dreamed of leadership and graft. Legends of graft are many in political clubs throughout the United States and the youth of the land generally dreams of "easy" money. It is the age for that.

Dan Martin, who drove the scarlet truck to which Emmett Murtough was detailed, had urged Emmett to join the club and when Emmett assented he took the young immigrant there and proposed him for membership. The honor, if a doubtful one, swelled the chest of the Kiltamall young man and he boasted long into night on Saturday of what his new connections were going to do for him. First citizenship papers were to be prepared for him and he would soon have a real say in the voice of America, he told Old Tom Kildare. And Kildare was jealous. Here was his own field, for, couldn't he talk politics with the best of them!

"A good job is better'n the politics ye do be talking so much about," declared Sheila at the supper table. "Mr. O'Shea's son, the contractor, is going to visit them tomorrow an' 'tis likely he'll be giving ye a job, Father."
"An' what to do?" inquired the old man.
"To do a day's work an' earn a day's wages," retorted Sheila, "an' 'tis proud ye should be that kind strangers like that would give ye a chance!"
"Well, I'll see the morrow," answered Old Tom, and Emmett again launched upon the fine fellows who were members of the West Side Club.

"Tis sorry I am, Sheila, that I'll be busy the morrow an' we won't be able to go any place," he remarked pompously. "Sure, Sunday is the day when most of the boys do be gathering around at my club."
"An' ye needn't worry, Emmett Murtough," cried Sheila hotly. "For I've made other plans myself."
"Other plans?"
"Yes, other plans. Mr. Rory O'Shea has asked me to go to Coney Island, an' I'm going."
"Ye'll not be running around with them O'Sheas now," declared Old Tom. "I won't have it."
"Indeed an' ye will, Father, because 'tis all settled!"
"An' who is this Rory?" asked Emmett. "I never heard of him an' I'm sure he don't belong to the Club."

Don't be a Victim of "Spring Fever"

You Can Easily Avoid the Depressing Effects of the Changing Season

In the Spring, many people find themselves losing appetite, are overcome by a lack of energy, and a run-down feeling takes possession of their whole body.

Spring is a great renovating season, when Nature throws off the accumulated impurities and prepares the system for the change it must undergo before merging into the coming Summer.

At this time, the energies relax, and an unspeakable languor pervades the entire system, giving that worn-out, good-for-nothing feeling, so commonly called "spring fever."

The important thing, therefore, is to put your system in tip-top condition, so as to be able to resist the common ailments so prevalent in Summer. You must build up the tissue and repair the wear that the system has undergone.

Now is the time to take S.S.S. It is unequalled for restoring strength, vitality and a keen appetite.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles; it improves the processes by which the body is nourished, and it is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

Get your S.S.S. at any good drug store. It is sold in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
